Attendance

As you will see later in the attendance section of the newsletter, our attendance percentages have crept up again this week which is great.

However, as we start our new academic year it would be fantastic if, as a whole school we can keep above that 95% mark and that each class can too.

We know that children get poorly, especially when returning to school after a long break.

However, every session that your child is in school is important and missing school soon adds up to significant learning time being missed.

Please work with us to ensure that your children have access to maximum learning opportunities. Thank you!

- 95% attendance means 50 missed lessons. This means a child missed about 10 days or 2 weeks of lessons in the school year.
- 90% attendance means 100 missed lessons. This means a child misses 4 weeks of lessons in the school year.
- 85% attendance means 150 missed lessons. This means the child misses almost 6 weeks of lessons in the school year
- 80% attendance means 200 missed lessons. This means the child misses over 7 weeks of lessons in the school year
- 75% attendance means 250 missed lessons. This means the child misses about 9 weeks of lessons in the school year

Headteacher's Award

Jenson, you have been a superstar this week, especially with our Reception children. You have been a great Buddy, guiding and helping our youngest children become more familiar with our school and have been calm and kind when some children have felt upset.
Thank you.

Message from Mrs Gaulton

A busy and tiring week for everyone this week as we adjusted to our first full week back after the summer break.

The children have really got to grips with their learning this week and it's been lovely to celebrate some wonderful writing, Art work, creativity and Maths work from across the school.

As the weather becomes increasingly autumnal, just a quick reminder to be prepared for colder and wetter days - those coats need to start being worn! Please remember to label clothing and personal items so we can easily return them to their rightful owners after a break or lunchtime. Thank you!

You will soon be receiving calendar dates for this half term - lots of exciting things that we're planning and preparing for as we get stuck in to Autumn Term.

Thank you to POS for meeting with me this week and sharing what is sure to be an exciting calendar of activities this academic year! Lots to look forward too.

Wishing you all a restful and enjoyable weekend!
